A BUSY MAN.

Captain G. D. Gray in the course of six years' residence in Phoenix has built up an extensive practice as pension agent, notary public and conveyancer. His experience in this line of work has been extensive. His clientele as a pension agent is increased largely by the fact of his having been an old soldier with a gallant record himself. Captain Gray was elected justice of the peace for this precinct last fall. So between his official duties and his professional duties he is among the busiest men in town. He has pleasant offices in the Dorris building on South Second avenue. His success in Phoenix is largely due to the fact that his work is always performed in such a manner that his clients are always satisfied.

GOLDBERG BROS. CLOTHING.

Goldberg Bros., exclusive dealers in men's clothing and gent's furnishings, have built up in a score of years what is recognized as the largest business of its kind between Denver and Los Angeles. They have built up something much more valuable to them than their present large stock—a reputation for square dealing. Aaron Goldberg has resided in the territory twenty-three years, his brother David Goldberg, twenty years. In addition to their large and fashionable stock of ready-to-wear clothing, they have established a merchant tailoring department under the control of an artistic designer and cutter. The Free Employment Agency and Intelligence Bureau, conducted with their business, has been a blessing to thousands of laboring men.

B. HEYMAN FURNITURE CO.

The furniture establishment of the B. Heyman Furniture Co. has grown up with Phoenix, and like Phoenix now, it has no counterpart in the territory. Mr. Heyman engaged in business in 1887 when it required faith and foresight to believe that a mercantile business would ever have a profitable field here. Mr. Heyman's faith has been justified. He now occupies the whole of the large building at the corner of Washington and First streets, two stories and basement, 22,500 square feet. This is exclusive of the carpet department, which is a large and steadily growing business in itself. The large trade enjoyed by this firm is due in a great measure to the financial advantage it is enabled to offer its customers by reason of the fact that all its furniture, crockery, etc., is brought in in carload lots.

D. NICHOLSON, TAILOR.

Daniel Nicholson, the leading tailor of Arizona, became a resident of Phoenix in 1889, coming here from Los Angeles, California. His start was a modest one, but by strict attention to business and fair dealing he has worked up the best business in the territory. It is steadily growing, too, showing an increase of 25 per cent per annum for the last half dozen years. Mr. Nicholson does all his own cutting and is careful to see that no garment leaves his establishment unless it will stand the test of critical approval. He has enlarged his quarters several times and now finds them again too small to accommodate his large stock of piece goods and corps of workmen. It is claimed for Mr. Nicholson that he has more employees than all the other tailors in the territory.

TALBOT &amp; HUBBARD.

The commerce of Phoenix is divided into two classes, the old and the new. The big hardware firm of Talbot & Hubbard holds a foremost place in the latter. It is among the old established businesses of the city, but however much Phoenix and the country around it have grown, Talbot & Hubbard have kept ahead of the growth. At the present stage a great many things in the hardware line are needed which were not in demand ten or a dozen years ago. The demands upon a Phoenix hardware store are as exacting as those upon a Chicago hardware store. But the demand is promptly filled at Talbot & Hubbard's. Nothing in the way of hardware's supplies or anything else belonging to hardware stock anywhere is inquired for in vain at Talbot & Hubbard's.

THE ALKIRE DRY GOODS COMPANY.

The Alkire Dry Goods company is one of the institutions of Phoenix of which the city may feel proud. The Alkire Bros. have been here many years. Their store has not always been as large and metropolitan as it is now, but it has always met the demands of the town in the variety and extent of its stock. A judge of dry goods could tell by a visit to this store how Phoenix is growing. It is a sort of thermometer of Phoenix, and the showing is a complimentary one. The store proves that the people have urban and rich tastes and that they have well filled pocketbooks for their gratification. The Alkire Dry Goods company found it necessary to move into its present big and well lighted quarters to accommodate its constantly growing trade. Stock purchases are made in the east by one of the most experienced buyers on the coast.

THE NEW YORK STORE.

Four years ago Sam Korrick began an experiment in dry goods in Phoenix, an experiment has long since ended and Mr. Korrick was so well pleased with the result of it that he fully embarked in the dry goods business in earnest. He carries in the New York Store one of the largest and best selected stocks in the territory. A little more than a year ago he was compelled to double his immense floor space in the Gardner block and for the last six months he has been as badly cramped for quarters as he was before. He has just leased in addition to the two rooms now occupied by him, the big Gardner hall on the second floor of the block. This room is now filled with a fashionable stock of dry goods making in itself an exposition worth going to see.

HENRY E. KEMP HARDWARE COMPANY.

There is no firm in Phoenix partaking in a greater measure of the general prosperity of Arizona than the Henry E. Kemp Hardware company. This business has grown with the town and is known throughout the territory. Nothing that belongs to the hardware business will be inquired for in vain from the smallest to the wealthiest article. Beside a general hardware stock the firm carries a line of Fish wagons and Columbus buggies, whose popularity in this community has increased yearly.

BARKLEY BROS. MERCANTILE COMPANY.

The Barkley Bros. Mercantile company is a mark of the new era in Phoenix. The firm was established three years ago and was the first and yet the only exclusive wholesale grocery house in Arizona. Its business grew rapidly until now it extends all over the territory. Its chief recommendation lies in the fact that it enjoys a large trade in Phoenix, which it not only maintains, but yearly increases. The stock is large and embraces every variety of merchandise sold in grocery and provision stores. An extensive warehouse owned by Barkley Bros. & Co. is located in Prescott. The members of this firm deserve well of Phoenix for their exhibition of faith—two years ago when the future of the town was not so thoroughly assured as it is now.

GREENE THE HATTER.

There is at least one place in town where excellence is considered first and price afterward. That is at Greene the Hatter's. Whatever one buys there he knows is the best of its kind and that he is getting it as cheap as it could be bought anywhere and he has bought beside an absolute certainty and guarantee of style and quality which in itself is worth a great deal. Beside keeping a large and well selected stock of gent's furnishings goods Mr. Greene devotes a great deal of time to the affairs of the Phoenix Building and Loan association, of which he is manager. This financial institution has had a most remarkable growth attributable largely to the activity, energy and business capacity of the manager. The association, it may be said, has done more for Phoenix than any other single agency.

PERCY SCOVILLE, PLUMBER.

The success in Phoenix of Percy Scoville as a plumber appears phenomenal, but it is really based on the excellent quality of his work and the excellence of the material he employs in it. Not very much was heard of Scoville until six months ago, when it was discovered that he was engaged in work in a half dozen places at the same time. Then people found him out and he was overwhelmed with business. He now gives steady employment to ten plumbers. He is engaged on seven contracts in fine residences in the city. He has a $14,000 contract from the government for a water and sewerage system at the Indian school, and has also a $2,500 contract from Contractor Sprague on the new buildings of the school.

P. T. HURLEY, BUTCHER.

P. T. Hurley is one of the leading dealers in fresh meat of all kinds, having the only cold storage plant in Arizona connected with the slaughter house, which is located in the middle of the city. The slaughter house is modern and up to date in every respect, having all the latest improvements for the slaughtering of all kinds of stock. Connected with the latest cold storage refrigerator, this makes this plant a competitor of any of the large packing houses for preserving meat and giving the public cold storage meats equal to any in the country. At No. 5 West Washington street, P. T. Hurley's market is located and equipped with another cold air refrigerator of the very latest model, which puts this firm in the lead between Kansas City and Los Angeles for supplying the public with meat that is unexcelled in quality with free delivery to all parts of the city.

BUXTON &amp; COMPANY.

Buxton & Co., general market, is another illustration of what hard work and close attention to business will do. Starting in a little room ten feet by twenty-five, three and one-half years ago, this firm now does the largest wholesale and retail business of its class in the southwest. Its shipments of fruits, vegetables, produce and poultry from Phoenix and the Salt River valley have grown to enormous proportions. Not only do they supply all the mining camps and small towns of Arizona, but Los Angeles, Denver, Kansas City, Galveston and intermediate towns depend upon Buxton & Co. of Phoenix for their early fruits and vegetables and for a large supply of their poultry. Nor has the firm neglected its retail trade, now handling flowers in addition to fruit, vegetables, produce and dressed poultry for the local trade. A new building, 100 feet, with large storage basement, has just been completed at the corner of Washington and Third streets, which will be used in addition to the present quarters. A large poultry yard equipped with all modern improvements and well selected stock of dressing of poultry has also been constructed by the firm.

THE PACIFIC RESTAURANT.

Western People frequently surprise their eastern friends by patronizing Chinese restaurants. This at first seems utterly incomprehensible, but as a stranger remains in the city he learns to regard the Oriental chefs with more favor. The Pacific restaurant is one managed by Chinamen, and it has succeeded in capturing a large share of patronage.
